Shot on location in the deep back woods near Stroud in Gloucestershire, on an increasingly rainy morning in early autumn, the video conjured up by 13aX explores the concept of trans-generational trauma through the staging of a card game. 'The Card Game' is all set to the haunting rhythmic track of 13aX's Still There containing treated guitar and captivating vocalisations feat. Ginny Clee, held together with a mesmeric beat and beautiful production.

The video takes as its starting point the chess game sequences from Ingmar Bergmans 1950's classic Seventh Seal

Synopsis: Michael (Death) is playing himself simultaneously as alive and dead in the guise of a trickster clown. Mia (Knight) paradoxically welcoming the presence but struggling to understand the rules of the game. As she sits at the table to play solitaire Michael interrupts and messes with the cards and her ability to stick to the linear trajectory of the game.

*note: Michael is Mia's real life grandfather.

The physical release includes a hand painted sleeve and fold out insert featuring stills from the video alongside Gavin's original art work and download code. There will be no CD's as Irregular Patterns are exploring the potential of plastic free physical releases.

Gavin McClafferty: "Conceiving, shooting the video and producing the artwork has been at times a deeply personal journey. I've really enjoyed having such great people to work with; lots of input and good will from friends and family. I'm really proud of the art that's been produced"

Irregular Patterns is a development label operating on a not-for-profit basis. Irregular Patterns turns the traditional record label set up on its head. The inversion can be simply described as the record label working for the artist. What this means is that artists retain 100% of their rights and royalties and agree to pay Irregular Patterns a share after income is earned - It's a trust thing.
